Sixteenth Congress.

IN SENATE, Jan. 17, 1820.

BILL. "to prohibit the introduction of Slavery into the Territories of the U. S. north and west of the contemplated State of Missouri." was presented by Mr. Thomas, of Illinois, and read twice.

MAINE AND MISSOURI.

The bill to admit Maine into the Union, with the annexation of Missouri, being under consideration.

Mr. Roberts, of Pennsylvania, moved to add the following proviso:—

"Provided, That the further introduction into said State [of Missouri] of persons to be held to slavery, or involuntary servitude, within the same, shall be absolutely and irrevocably prohibited."

On this motion an animated debate ensued, but no decision was had on it, when the Senate adjourned.

Tuesday, Jan. 18.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the bill for the admission of Maine and Missouri into the Union.—The proposition of Mr. Roberts, for annexing a certain condition to the admission of Missouri, being under consideration.—Mr. Morrill concluded the speech which he began yesterday, in favor of the restriction, when on motion of Mr. Walker, the Senate adjourned.

Wednesday, Jan. 19.

The sitting this day was wholly occupied in the debate on the Maine and Missouri bill.

Thursday, Jan. 20.

The debate on the Missouri question occupied the entire day. Mr. Lowrie, of Penn., and Mr. Burrill, of Rhode-Island, supported the restriction of Slavery; and Mr. Macon, of N. C. opposed it; when on motion of Mr. Pinkney, (who of course takes the floor to-morrow) the Senate adjourned.

Friday, January 21.

MISSOURI QUESTION.
The Senate resumed the consideration of the Missouri Question—Mr. Pinkney, of Maryland, took the floor, and spoke until near 3 o'clock, against the proposed Restriction. Before he had concluded his speech, he gave way for a motion to adjourn, and the Senate adjourned to Monday.

House of Representatives,

Monday, Jan. 17.

Caf for Information.

The Resolutions submitted to the House on Friday, by Mr. Strother, calling on the Secretaries of the several Departments for information on various subjects relating to balances, &c. in the hands of the Treasurer, occasioned considerable debate.—After several amendments, the three first resolutions were agreed to.

The 4th requiring of the Secretary of the Treasury a report on the prices of Public Stocks, with his opinion, whether it would not be advisable to apply the surplus of the Sinking Fund to the annual expenses of the Government, rather than resort to loans and taxes, was negatived without a division.

Tuesday, Jan. 18.

FOURTH CENSUS.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill for taking the fourth census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the United States.

An amendment to allow a compensation not to exceed 20 per cent on the amount of the other compensation allowed by the act, for the enumeration of the manufacturing establishments, occasioned a debate. It was moved by Mr. Cobb, to strike out 20 and insert ten per cent; which was advocated by Mr. Livermore, of N. H. and opposed by Messrs Smith, of N. D. Smith, of N. C. and Mercer, of Va. and negatived.

Motions to provide for the enumeration of the "Professors of Law, Physic and Divinity," and for "such statistical details of the agriculture of the districts, territories, and divisions, as shall ascertain the quantity of arable and inarable land in each; of the arable land, the quantity cleared and in cultivation; and of the latter, the number of acres in each species of culture, with the average annual product per acre," were made, opposed, and negatived. A motion to provide for the enumeration of "free white males from 16 to 18 years of age, inclusive," was adopted, as was another, moved by Mr. Sampson, to except house hold manufactures; when the bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

Wednesday, Jan. 19.

A bill supplementary to the Laws for adjusting Land Claims in Louisiana and Missouri, was read twice.

Cash Payments of Imports.
Mr. Baldwin, from the Committee of Manufactures, reported a bill "to regulate the payment of duties on merchandise imported, and for other purposes." This bill requires cash payments on certain imports. Also,

A bill laying duties on Sales of Merchandise at Auction.

Both bills were read twice, and committed.

THE SLAVE TRADE.

On motion of Mr. Cuthbert, of Georgia, the Committee on the Slave Trade was instructed to inquire into the expediency of establishing a Registry of Slaves, more effectually to prevent the importation of Slaves into the U. S. or the territories thereof.

The Secretary of War transmitted to the House a report of the Quarter Master General relative to the terms of the contract for transportation of troops, &c. to the Yellow Stone Expedition. Laid on the table.

Lost Property in the Seminole War.
The House resumed the consideration of the bill to provide for the payment of horses, &c. lost during the Seminole War.

An animated debate ensued, in which Messrs. Barbour, Cannon and Jones, advocated the bill, which was opposed by Messrs. Pindall, McCoy, Storrs, Johnson, of Va. Mercer, and Foot; and on the motion to pass the bill to be engrossed, the numbers were

For engrossing the bill - 64
Against it - 90
So the bill was rejected. Adj.

Thursday, Jan. 20.

Revolutionary Pension List.

A report of the names of the Pensioners placed on the List in each state, under the act of March 18, 1818, was presented, and laid on the table.

FORTIFICATIONS.

The President of the United States transmitted by Message, a detailed report from the Secretary of War, of the several sums appropriated for building Fortifications from 1816 to 1819, inclusive. Ordered to be printed.

The report of the Committee of Claims unfavorable to the petition of Thomas Camp, who prayed to be placed on the Revolutionary Pension list, from which he is excluded on account of not having been on the "continental establishment," though he served several years in the revolutionary war, was referred to a committee of the whole house.

ARMY EXPENSES.

A statement of the Adjutant and Inspector General, exhibiting a comparative view of the army expenditures, before and after the late war, and the estimated expenses for the present year. Ordered to be printed.

Mr. Foot laid on the table a resolution, that the Committee on the Judiciary report on the expediency of regulating by law the election and return for Representatives to Congress.

Several resolutions passed, directing inquiries on local subjects.

FOURTH CENSUS.

The engrossed bill on this subject was read a third time, passed, and sent to the Senate.

The House, in committee Mr. Hill in the chair, took up the report of the Committee of Claims unfavorable to the prayer of the petition of Jacob Parkhill, who prayed an allowance of 700 dollars for a negro man who died by working in the mud at New-Orleans, by order of Gen. Jackson; and after much discussion, the House concurred in the report of the Committee of Claims. Adj.

Friday, Jan. 21.

After the presentation and reference of petitions, and the reception of one or two reports on private claims, it was found that the interesting debate in the Senate had attracted so many members from their seats as to leave the House without a quorum. A motion to adjourn was negatived by yeas and nays—54 to 19; after which a call of the House was moved, but it was superseded by another motion to adjourn, which succeeded, and the House adjourned about one o'clock.

SAVANNAH JAN. 11.

GREAT FIRE.

It is in a state of utter distraction that we attempt to describe the horrors of the late conflagration. One half of Savannah is in ruins. We know not, and cannot undertake to enumerate the sufferers, or the extent of our loss.—The fire originated in the stable back of Mrs. Platt's boarding house, and soon reached Baptist-square. The fire-proof houses of Mr. Munger, and the open square, stopped its progress in that direction. The fire reached the bay on the corner of Barnard-street, sweeping the house on the west corner, occupied by Col. Broom, and from thence extending down the bay, taking the brick building occupied by us with our printing establishment, the large brick auction store of George Schley, U. S. Branch Bank, the new brick auction stores on the corner of Bull-street, Pouyat's corner, lottery office, Dickson & Co's store, Hunter's brick store, and Jones' wooden buildings on the corner of Habersham-street, where its progress will probably be arrested. From the bay it extended as far back as Broughton-street, sweeping almost every thing.—Both the Planters' and State Banks caught several times, and were with difficulty saved. Andrew Low & Co's brick store, Col. Shad's brick stores, Gibbons's buildings, the block of brick buildings belonging to the Presbyterian Church, Judge M'Allister's brick house, the market, Wallen's range, Butler & White's range, and in fact every thing between Broughton-street and the bay was destroyed. Many lives, it is said were lost, but we cannot yet ascertain their names. It is supposed 400 houses were burned; many of them were partly cleared of their contents; but the property was generally burned in the streets. It is presumed the loss cannot be much if any less than two millions of dollars. Many hundreds of families are literally naked in the streets—not even clothing was saved. Every printing office was burnt down. For ourselves, with the blessing of God, and the assistance of our friends, we saved a considerable portion of type, and our most valuable press. The auction stores in the city, shared a similar fate. The city is still in flames, and when it will be got under no one knows. We have every reason to believe that its progress will extend no farther. It commenced this morning between 1 and 2 o'clock, January 13.

It is not yet, that we can speak with any thing like certainty, or hardly probability as to the amount of losses, or number of sufferers, by the dreadful conflagration of Monday night, and Tuesday morning last. Enough, however, is known to convince us, that we should have said five, instead of two millions, in our extra sheet of Tuesday evening. Endeavors are making to ascertain the amount of loss, and the names of the sufferers; but exactness will be utterly impossible.

Hundreds are reduced in a moment, as it were, from opulence to poverty, and many of our most respectable families are thrown on the charity of the world. It is hardly in language of soberness, that we can speak of this dreadful catastrophe.—We yet behold crowds of aged and infirm, of women and children, wandering homeless in the streets; and so rapid was the progress of the flames, that those in the vicinity where it originated, lost their all—even to their necessary clothing.—Others who had time to remove their goods, had it conveyed to buildings which were considered fire proof, and from their situation perfectly secure,—but which also shared the general fate.

The entire commercial part of the town is destroyed. There is but one solitary dry goods store remaining. The finest buildings are in ruins.—There are 80 single and seven trust (or double) lots left naked; and from the best information which the city surveyor or was enabled to give last evening, it is calculated that there were 321 wooden buildings, many of which were double tenements; 31 brick ditto, exclusive of those owned by the Presbyterian church, Messrs Gibbons, Shad, Morrison and Hunter, which contain 30 tenements.—Altogether making not less than 450 tenements.

The fire swept from Baptist square, on the west (taking in from Broughton street down to Abercorn street, on the east—with the exception of a few buildings on the Bay between Montgomery and Jefferson-streets; and Washington hall, with one wooden building between Jefferson and Barnard streets; and a few buildings on Broughton street, between Abercorn and Drayton streets; and a few other houses on Broughton street, between Jefferson and Montgomery streets. The State bank and Episcopal church in Johnston's square, were also saved.

The wind, which was fresh from N. W. and increased violently with the flames, rendered the assistance of the engines of little avail.

Savannah Museum.

[Here follows a list of the sufferers by the Fire.]

The Savannah Republican of the 14th inst. contains the following additional particulars of this distressing calamity:

"Having suffered with others in the late calamity, we have made haste to collect the remains of our printing materials, and now present to the public the circumstances which accompanied this event. In the whole course of our editorial career we have frequently had to record matters of deep importance, of various nature; but never, no never before has it fallen to our lot to give to the world an account of so distressing a conflagration.

On Tuesday the 11th inst, this city exhibited such a scene of desolation and of distress, probably more awfully calamitous than any, grievously experienced in America.

Between one and two o'clock in the morning, a lively stable, belonging to a Mr. Boon, on a tract lot of the estate of Isaac Fell, in Baptist church square, was discovered to be on fire. The citizens, and different engine companies, together with the officers and crews of the vessels in the harbor, were soon convened, but, unfortunately, no immediate and decisive measures were adopted by which the fire could be stopped at its beginning.

The season for four months (with the exception of two rains) previous to this incident had been dry; the night was cold, and a brisk breeze from W. N. W. which was soon engrossed by the effect of the fire. Several of the adjoining houses were soon affected, and then almost instantly in flames. The wind now became strong, and whirled into the air, with agitated violence large flakes of burning shingles, boards and other light substance, which, alighting at a distance, added confusion to the other terrors of the conflagration. The use of water was rendered totally vain, its common extinguishing power seemed to be lost.—Forms of flames rolled from house to house, with a destructive rapidity which bid defiance to all human controul; and individual exertions were from this time almost suspended, and principally pointed towards the securing private property.

In fact every house is swept away from the spot where the fire commenced, thro' Market square, and the Bay, from Washington Hall to the house which was lately occupied by George Jones Esq (except James Dickson & Co's large fire proof store.) It, and it alone is the only building remaining between the two points named. We are really at a loss how to describe the damage done. No pen can describe—no tongue can give utterance to words strong enough to do this melancholy subject justice. To those at a distance, we can only say to them—come, come and look at our poor, devoted, ruined Savannah.

It is thought by many individuals that the fire would have been arrested in Market square, had it not been for the circumstance of a large quantity of gun powder, being in some of the shops in the square. This struck a panic in every one—and that part of the town was abandoned. Explosions, soon took place; and the blazing fragments scattered in every direction! A good deal of powder, however, was taken away and thrown into a well in St. James square. We hope the police will enforce the ordinance against every person who had, or may have gunpowder in their stores. Had the explosion taken place, before notice was given, God only knows how many lives would have been lost. Offenders ought to be punished by this violation of the law, a million of dollars, have been destroyed.

Between twelve and one o'clock, the rage of the fire was arrested. The exhausted sufferers, of both sexes, had now to remain exposed to the inclemency of a cold day, and to witness the distressing spectacle of their numerous dwellings covered with volumes of smoke and flame, tumbling into ruins. Yes! the best part of Savannah is no more! The flames have prostrated all the buildings which were the pride of our city! Thus was the emporium of our state, which was promising a considerable figure among the commercial cities of our sister states, almost destroyed in twelve hours. The commercial part of the town is a heap of ruins! There is but one solitary dry-goods store remaining. All, all are gone!

We have taken considerable pains to ascertain the number of buildings burnt; and the probable amount of property destroyed by this dreadful catastrophe.

There are ninety-four lots stripped completely; and it is calculated that there are three hundred and twenty-one wooden buildings, many of which were double tenements, thirty-five brick ditto, exclusive of those owned by the Presbyterian church, by Messrs Gibbons, Shad, Morrison, Johnston, and Hunter, which contained thirty tenements. Altogether, making not less than FOUR HUNDRED AND SIXTY-THREE tenements not including out buildings! Thirty years must elapse before Savannah will be again what she has been.—Good God! we can hardly believe our eyes when we cast a look at the scene before us.

The probable amount of property destroyed by this unfortunate occurrence, is from a calculation nicely made upwards of FOUR MILLION OF DOLLARS!—But, if we take into consideration the stoppage of business, and every direct and indirect loss, TEN MILLIONS will not be too great an estimate.

We understand that two persons lost their lives, and as many injured in rendering assistance during the fire. We have learnt of no further accident.

The Council have judiciously directed the pulling down of old walls and chimnies, which are now standing, and form a dismal appearance.

'Tis to us indeed a time of humiliation. Every face wears the appearance of mourning. How disconsolate are many families this day! But a few days ago their prospects were flattering—now they are not only shelterless, but destitute, perhaps, of a change of clothing.

The day of the catastrophe, a most interesting and melancholy picture presented itself, in the depressed countenances of its inhabitants—the smoking ruins, the forest of naked chimnies and walls, the various kinds of destruction of goods and furniture, and the crowds of houseless inhabitants. The hospitality of the few, whose houses remain, has been general and unrestrained; their tenements are shared with the others.

We have not yet been able to ascertain, satisfactorily, how the fire originated—whether by design or accident.—We understand that ten or twelve horses were burnt up in the stable that the fire originated in.

The Mercury.

NEWPORT,
Saturday, Jan. 29, 1820.

MISSOURI QUESTION.

The National Intelligencer of Saturday last, says,—“The deliberations of Congress, have never produced a deeper interest, if we may judge from the crowds which every day attend the sittings of the Senate, than the discussions which has occupied that body for the last eight days; and the curiosity of the public has seldom been repaid by a more able debate—certainly a more interesting question could not have formed the subject of it. Not only have the galleries been filled, but the public desire to hear the debate has been so far indulged, that every part of the Chamber, not occupied by the seats of the members, has been crowded by auditors; and the scene has been rendered the more interesting, by the great number of ladies, whom we were glad to see admitted upon the floor.”

FROM WASHINGTON, Jan. 22d.

“The House of Representatives had a short incidental session this day, in consequence of the want of a quorum yesterday, to adjourn over to Monday. The only business done, except the formal morning business, was going into committee on a bill to appropriate monies to finish the wings of the Capitol and President's house, which bill was ordered to a third reading. The former appropriations having been insufficient, this bill is rendered necessary to meet deficiencies.—The House adjourned between 1 and 2 o'clock.”

FROM RIO JANEIRO.

A gentleman arrived at Norfolk, who left Rio Janeiro the 29th of Nov. informs, that Commodore HARDY's Squadron had arrived there from England; and that a Russian squadron of five sail had also arrived there.—The latter are said to be destined on voyages of discovery.

The U. S. sch'r Nonsuch, Lieut. Turner, arrived at Rio Oct. 31st from Trinidad, with information of the death of Commodore PERRY, and sailed the next day for the River of Plate.

FROM GIBRALTAR.

The U. S. sloop of war Erie, Capt. Stockton, arrived at New-York on Saturday last, in 54 days from Gibraltar.—Passengers, Commodore Macdonough, Captains Ballard, Gallagher, J. Nicholson, Lieuts. Page and Cross, Midshipmen Heth, Rand and Stevens. Left at Gibraltar, U. S. brig Spark and sloop of war Peacock—the latter just arrived from the United States.

Lieut. McCalla, bearer of despatches from Com. Stewart, has proceeded to Washington.

The Officers of our squadron in the Mediterranean, have erected a monument at Messina, to the memory of Capt. Gordon.

The first news of the death of Commodore PERRY, was received at Gibraltar by an English brig from Trinidad. As soon as the news reached our Squadron, the colors were hoisted half-mast, and other demonstrations of respect observed—and the Americans at Gibraltar held a meeting and resolved to wear crape for one month.

GREAT FIRE AT SAVANNAH.

In our preceding columns, we have copied from the Savannah papers, the detailed accounts of this distressing conflagration.—We perceive, with pleasure, that public meetings have been held in New-York, Philadelphia, Charleston, &c. to take into consideration the best mode of relieving the distresses of its inhabitants.—The Citizens of Charleston, with a benevolent alacrity highly honorable to their character, have directed, that their Intendant and Council should immediately forward the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars for the relief of the distressed citizens of Savannah, and Five Thousand Dollars for those of Wilmington. Private collections, it is added, are also to be made for the same object.—The Providence American of yesterday, says,—“Several of our enterprising townsmen, who had resorted to Savannah for the purpose of obtaining an independence by honest industry, have sustained serious, if not ruinous losses, and a thriving population are abruptly deprived, at an ineluctable season, not merely of superfluous opulence, but of the means of shelter and support.”—We hope our citizens do not require any incentive to their benevolence in behalf of the suffering inhabitants of Savannah.

MORE FIRES.

On Saturday morning last, the Pa-paco Factory, distant 9 miles from Baltimore, was consumed by fire. The person whose duty it was to watch the Factory, had left it but a short time, before a fire commencing in the third story, laid it in ashes. The loss is estimated at $200,000, part of which was insured.—Circumstances it is said, lead to the suspicion that the fire was communicated by an incendiary. The Factory, it is also said, was one of the most spacious establishments of the kind in the United States.

On Wednesday evening, the 19th inst. the valuable flouring mills of P.
S. Van Rensselaer, Esq. Mayor of Albany, was discovered to be on fire, and before adequate assistance could be rendered, they were burnt to the ground. There was a quantity of wheat in the mills.

On Thursday morning, the 20th inst.
about 1 o'clock, the dwelling-house of Mr. Joseph Wright, in Rehoboth, was consumed, with all his furniture and provisions. It originated from an oven, which had been heated that day; nothing was saved—the family were aroused from sleep, by their neighbours, as the roof of their building was falling in.

At Boston, on Thursday morning
last, between 1 and 2 o'clock, a fire was discovered in a large brick building in State-street, and notwithstanding the great exertions of the citizens, who immediately assembled, and a heavy fall of snow at the time, the interior was soon consumed to the foundation,
with most of the property it contained.
—One of the stories was occupied by Messrs. True & Weston, publishers of the Yankee, who lost the whole of their valuable printing apparatus.

Boundaries.

The Providence Patriot of Wednesday last, says:—“It seems that the Legislation of Massachusetts have turned their attention to the boundary line between that State and Connecticut, and calculate to obtain by its revision, over 40,000 acres, which of right belong to the Commonwealth. The Boston Centinel says, that this will be a small offset for the secession of Maine, and that this is the best time that has occurred for many years to run boundary lines and settle old controversies. We hope our Commissioners will take the hint, and shortly obtain from Massachusetts
what of right belongs to this State.—
The controversy has been existing, we believe, as long as that of Massachusetts with Connecticut, since 1713;
and we agree with the Centinel, that this is a good time to settle old accounts.
Let every State have its ‘‘sin again!’’

Another New Invention.

We understand a patent has been taken out by a gentleman from Massachusetts, for an invention, which seems to promise extensive advantage to navigation, if once fairly brought into operation. It consists, principally, in a new method for sub-marine ploughing, to any necessary depth, by the power of a steam boat. When the matter is effectually opened up and pulverized, it cannot reasonably be doubted but the rapidity of sub-tides, united with the natural current of the rivers, will soon carry it off, and keep the channel open. The invention is now in this city, giving a perspective view of his plan, which appears uncommonly simple and practicable.—
The advantages of being able to plough open channels through the shoals which frequently form in many of our immense rivers, would, alone, be an object of very great advantage to our southern and western states; but, when we consider the invention as extending to opening channels for large ships to enter the estuaries and rivers throughout our whole coast, the advantages presented to us are incalculable. Nat. Intell.

Silver Mine.

What we must yet think is a wild story, very gravely told of the discovery of a silver mine near Zanesville, (Ohio), in consequence of digging for salt water.
At the depth of 133 feet from the surface we are told, the adgur penetrated springs of silver, seven feet thick, and of quite as pure as that commonly used for coin! It is added that the company is forming to sink a shaft to the treasure.

Military Oppression Punished.

A letter from Washington to the Editor of the New-York Evening Post states, that ‘‘Colonel King has been found guilty of the charge preferred against him for issuing the order to shoot deserters in Florida. He was also found guilty of other charges, and has been sentenced by the court martial to be suspended from his pay and command for the period of five years.’’—
We hope that the infliction of this punishment may check the march of military tyranny.

The manufacture of Jewelry, has, it is said, been carried on to a greater extent in Providence, and its vicinity, than any other town in the Union.

Fire at Savannah.

A letter from Savannah, dated January 13th, says:—
“The Phoenix Company of London are in for $165,000, and the Marine & Fire Insurance Company here (whose building is burnt) for upwards, it is said, of $70,000. If the latter insured principally in Savannah, which is most probable, their loss must I think have been greater. Low, Wallace & Co., who kept a very large hardware store,
also thinking their store fire-proof, resolved not to move until it was too late;
the stock they had on hand, from what I understand, could not have been far short of $100,000.

“The Union Lodge Room was very handsome, it was in a range of elegant new buildings, erected by Lloyd & Morrison; it was used only by the Union Lodge and the Grand Lodge.—
These Lodges have lost all their books, papers, furniture, &c.”

A letter dated at Savannah, on the 14th inst. says:—“Carpenters and bricklayers, will get 3 1-2 dollars per day until July. Bricks, lime and boards must continue to pay a good freight. Many mechanics are wanted to work up the old bricks immediately. Cotton is coming in fast and declining; it is 15 cents, and will soon be lower. We have now a great rain.”

DANIEL D. TOMPKINS, Vice-President of the United States, has been nominated for Governor of the State of New-York, by the Anti-Clintonian members of the Legislature of that state. I is not known whether he will accept the nomination. The election takes place in April next.

The Hon. Rufus King, passed through Philadelphia on Saturday morning for Washington, to take his seat in the Senate of the United States.

Messrs. Harper and Orr, the persons who levied the Ohio tax on the Branch Bank of the United States, have been released from their arrest, the Deputy Marshal who committed them, not being a sworn officer, as the law requires.

Mordet M. Noah, editor of the New York National Advocate, has positioned the legislature of New-York to sell him Grand Island, situated between Lakes Erie and Ontario, on Niagara River. His object is to cause a town or city to be erected thereon, to be inhabited by a community of Jewish emigrants.

A petition has been presented to the Legislature of Pennsylvania, to suspend sales of property on executions, for three years, and to compel creditors, on appraisalment, to take the property of their debtors.

A committee of the New-York Legislature, have reported in favor of a reduction in the fees, of office &c. to the amount of fifty thousand dollars; but the pay of the Members of the House, remain, at four dollars a day.

Burnt Tongue.

The following recipe is said to be an infallible remedy for the Burnt Tongue,
a disorder now prevalent among horses and cattle.

“Dissolve two ounces of Copperas and two ounces of Alum, in a pint of strong Vinegar; scab the mouth and tongue with the solution, until the disease is removed; then dissolve Honey and Alum in Vinegar, and use it in the same way to heal the tongue.”

NEW-YORK, JAN. 26.

Hobberies.

Attempts were made on Sunday night to break into both the City Bank, and the Mechanic's Bank. At the former the villains succeeded in removing two of the panells in the large double door, which brought them in contact with a sheet iron, which, for greater safety, is placed between the outer and inner pannels. At the latter the front window blinds and windows were forced open, but the rogues could not effect a passage through the interior iron shutters.
How they could have done so much unobserved in a street so rigidly watched, is a matter of surprise.

A large quantity of stolen goods, some of which have been missing for upwards of a twelve-month, have been recently found in a grocery store in Catharine-lane, in this city. Several cart-loads were taken to the police-office, most of which have been claimed, and returned to the owners. Amongst these goods were 500 dollars worth of silks, femi-nary apparel, linen, stockings, hats, coats, &c.
The man at whose house this discovery was made, is reputed to be worth 20,000 dollars.

Sacrilege.—We regret to state, that a number of articles, viz. curtains, candlesticks &c. were stolen last Friday night from the basement story of the new Presbyterian Church at Corlies Hook. The lower story of the house has been completed some time since, and occupied by the congregation, as the principal part of the Church is not yet finished. We hope and trust, the hardened offenders will not long escape the punishment they so justly merit.

age.—She has left a bright example of usefulness in life, of patience and self-denial, and of quietness and hope in the hour of death.—She will long be remembered with affection by her christian friends, by those who were once her pupils, and by her numerous relatives and friends, to whom she was much endeared.

“On Thursday last, in the 53d year of her age, terminated the long protracted sufferings of MARY WILLIAMS, the amiable wife of David Williams.—
Were we not restricted from such obituary notices, we would gladly render our grateful tribute to the memory of this worthy woman.—Whether we sought amid the social virtues that were so strikingly exemplified in her useful life, or those of a more extended character,
we should find much to value and admire; but,

“Her fragrant memory will outlast the tomb, “Embalmed forever in its own perfume.”

Having through life experienced the consolations of christian faith, her end was peaceful and serene.—Funeral this Afternoon, 2 o'clock at the House, which her relations and friends are requested to attend.”

POETRY.

FANCY AND REASON.

A H Memory! in thy wide domain
Free to retract, light fancy flies,
Dearly she loves thy mental reign,
Nor she alone, but all the train
Of thoughts that in thy kingdom rise.

Reflection, meditative mail!
With pensive step, and absent air,
While Phœbus smiles, lends thee her aid,
To rescue from oblivion's shade,
The day-dreams of this world of care.

But soon as Night her mantle throws,
To curtain in the prison'd stars,
And mortals seek for bland repose,
Her influence, 'twining Fancy knows,
And Reason 'gainst her, vainly wars.

Then Time—she bids thy footsteps turn,
And bring back years that swiftly fled,
And with them on their pinions borne
The friends whom still we fondly mourn,
Long slumbering in their narrow bed.

The parent to the child restores,
Who pleas'd soft filial dues to pay,
With loving gaze, profusely pours,
From the full heart its glowing stores,
And hopes to bless his lengthen'd day.

She paints the rose in vivid bloom,
Upon that cheek, so wan, so pale,
Which early found the silent tomb,
And there enshrouded in its gloom,
Now shrinks not at the winter's gale.

Awaits that voice, whose swelling tone,
A jessie wild-dom did inspire;
That mind, where judgment rais'd a throne,
That eye, whose kindling beam alone,
Bespoke the soul's ethereal fire.

Such are the visions of the pillow'd rest,
And Fancy to her votary true,
Thus makes affection sweetly blest,
Till Reason comes by morning dress,
Yet drest in robes of sable hue.

But yielding through life's transient hour,
To her benignant sway,
Religion leads her cheering power,
And brightly from the clouds that low'r,
Beams forth eternal day.

WINTER.

WHEN WINTER's grey and grisly form,
Exulting, scatters cold and pain;
Tempestuous beats the hollow storm,
And icy torrents drench the plain;

Child'd from its native parent spray,
The fated blossom droops its head;
No more to boast the genial ray,
That all its infant graces fed.

Thus life's gay roses frequent fade,
And victims to disease and death;
Thus virtue's charms are oft betray'd,
And virtue'd by fate's untimely breath.

Warm'd by the gale that zephyrs breathe,
Soon shall the forest bloom again;
The rose resume its wonted hue,
And Spring destroy the tyrant's reign.
